The State as a Syndicate: Diagnosing the True Crisis

The Symptoms

~~Poverty~~
~~Violence~~
~~Forced Migration~~

The Root Cause

Systemic Corruption

Diagnostic Text: The Mexican Republic exists currently in name only. The State has been sequestered to serve a rapacious minority.

Key Insight: The rampant inequality, shocking poverty, and forced migration plaguing Mexico are not natural economic phenomena. They are the direct, engineered symptoms of Neoporfirismo—a neoliberal political model designed to monopolize the bureaucratic apparatus and transfer public wealth into private hands.

The Cure: Eradicating corruption at the executive level to free up public resources, requiring no new taxes.

Competing Visions for the Mexican State

	Neoporfirismo (The Current Model)	Alternative Nation Project
Role of the State	A burden to be minimized; facilitates privatization.	An active engine for development; prevents abuse by the elite.
Public Resources	Commodities for private auction (telecom, rail, mining).	Sovereign assets used as levers for national development.
Taxation & Spending	High taxes on the middle class, VAT on essentials, massive debt.	Eradicating bureaucratic waste and corruption to fund welfare with NO NEW TAXES .
Migration Policy	Passive acceptance of labor flight as an economic valve.	Retaining citizens through domestic job creation and fair wages.

Dossier

The Concentration of Wealth

Today, 10% of Mexicans control 64.4% of national income, and 1% own 21% of the country's wealth.

Dossier

The Billionaire Boom

In 1988, prior to widespread state sell-offs, Mexico had exactly 1 billionaire family ($2B).

By 1994, after the rapid shuttering and privatization of 251 businesses (including Telmex), there were 24 billionaires holding $44.1B.

Summary Note: Wealth does not trickle down. Privatization served exclusively to concentrate national wealth into a new oligarchy.

The Infrastructure of Nepotism

The Honest Benchmark

Dr. Belisario Domínguez Hospital (Iztapalapa, 2004)
Size: 150 beds
Total Cost: 350 million pesos ($18.8M USD)

The Crony Mark-Up

Zumpango Hospital (Built by Grupo Higa via PPP)
Size: 125 beds
Total Cost: 7 billion pesos ($377M USD) — 20X THE COST

The Pharaonic Airport: This exact model is being applied to the new Texcoco airport (180 billion pesos / $9.7B) built on sinking mud.
The Alternative Nation proposal: Expand Santa Lucía military base instead, saving the public over 100 billion pesos ($5.3B).

FOBAPROA: Socializing the Losses of the Elites

The Event: Following the 1994 peso crisis, technocrats created FOBAPROA to transfer private corporate debt to the public taxpayer. Originally promised to cost 180 billion pesos, the net debt reached 855 billion pesos ($46.1B USD) by 2016 (4.46% of GDP). It will take 70 years to pay off.

Unmasking the Migration Myth

The False Narrative

Migrants are an invading force stealing American jobs, necessitating a border wall.

The Economic Reality

Migration is forced exile driven by a stagnant neoliberal economy, abandoned rural areas, and unlivable wages.

Wage Disparity:

Auto Assembly Worker (Mexico): $3.50/hour

Auto Assembly Worker (USA): $34.00/hour

The Synthesis: The US economy is highly integrated with Mexico's and relies on these depressed wages to remain globally competitive. Walls will not solve an economic vacuum; only regional development can stem the tide.

The Wall of Death vs. The Corridor of Development

Tax Incentives

- Reduce Income Tax by 20%
- Slash VAT to ~8% (matching US state taxes)

Energy & Infrastructure

- Match gasoline, diesel, and electricity prices with the US
- Regulate land use and pave streets

Labor & Dignity

- Double the minimum wage across the entire zone
- Retain workers in their home country, ending the desert crossing crisis

The Cost of Theft:

Corruption costs the country up to 10% of the national budget—roughly 500 billion pesos ($27.2B USD) annually.

The Legal Remedy

Mexican Constitution: Article 108

The President, during their term, may only be accused of treason, and grave offenses. They are granted

The Head of State will be held accountable to the law. NO IMMUNITY.
granted immunity from prosecution for acts of corruption.

The Principle: Honesty is not just a moral imperative; it is a financial strategy. Eradicating systemic theft frees the capital required for national development.

The Mechanics of Republican Austerity

The Core Promise: Fund national revitalization, infrastructure, and social programs without raising taxes or increasing debt.

The Myth of the Underpaid Bureaucrat

The Reality: In 2016, the only world leader earning more than Mexico's high-ranking officials was Barack Obama.

The Action Plan

- ✓ • Cap maximum public salaries at 110,000 pesos/month ($6,000 USD).
- ✓ • Cut Chapter 1000 ('Personal Services') of the federal budget by 11% (132 billion pesos / $7.2B USD).
- ✓ • Eliminate 'Individualized Separation Insurance' (saving $485M USD).
- ✓ • Eliminate VIP private medical insurance (saving $234M USD).

Liquidating the Symbols of Excess

The Luxury Air Fleet

Total Air Flotilla Cost:	64.9 Billion Pesos ($4.6 Billion USD)
--------------------------	---

Between Calderón and Peña Nieto, 85 billion pesos were spent on luxury planes and helicopters, including a $409M presidential plane.

Action: Sell the VIP flotilla. The President will fly commercial. Keep only medical, security, and safety aircraft.

Ex-Presidential Sinecures

Annual Cost per Ex-President:	55.7 Million Pesos ($3 Million USD)
-------------------------------	---

Former presidents receive an unconstitutional military and civilian retinue of over 100 personnel, plus lifetime pensions and insurance.

Action: Abolish Accord 2763-Bis. Eliminate the 55.7 million pesos spent annually per ex-president.

Sealing the Leaks: Procurement Reform

The Invisible Tax: The OECD estimates that bribery in government purchasing costs Mexico up to 100 billion pesos ($5.4B USD) annually—a 10-25% “surcharge” on all public works.

The Procurement Surcharge

Centralized Purchasing Flow

The Reform:

- ✓ Institute citizen oversight in all bidding.
- ✓ Centralize bulk purchasing to slash costs by 20%.
- ✓ Mandate a 10-year cooling-off period for former officials joining private firms.

A Rebirth Through Sheer Morality

'The Vision'

Mexico's crisis is not a lack of resources, but a lack of integrity. By eradicating systemic corruption and implementing Republican Austerity, we can unlock hundreds of billions of pesos for national development.

'The Promise'

We will not raise taxes. We will not seek revenge. We will re-establish the autonomy of our natural resources, secure our borders through mutual prosperity rather than walls, and govern by the fundamental premise that there must be no rich public servants while the people are poor.
