

The Pan-African Archive & Activist Canvas

Tracing the intellectual legacy of Walter Rodney from a monumental text to a living, global ecosystem for social justice.

A landmark text that crossed continents and generations.

1972

First published globally in Great Britain (Bogle-L'Ouverture Publications, London) and Tanzania (Tanzania Publishing House, Dar es Salaam).

1981

Revised edition released featuring a new introduction by Vincent Harding, William Strickland, and Robert Hill.

1974

First United States publication by Howard University Press.

2011

Sustained legacy through modern publication by Black Classic Press, Baltimore.

Black Classic Press
Baltimore

how europe underdeveloped
AFRICA

A black silhouette of Walter Rodney, a Black man with a beard and glasses, wearing a suit and tie, gesturing with his hands as if speaking. He is positioned on the left side of the slide.

Consolidating the intellectual property of a visionary.

In 2003, the Walter Rodney Papers were formally donated to the Robert W. Woodruff Library at the Atlanta University Center (AUC).

This archive represents the largest and most comprehensive collection of speeches, correspondence, photographs, and documents created by Walter Rodney anywhere in the world, actively preserved for scholarly research.

Transforming a static historical text into active 21st-century deployment.

	The Historical Anchor	The Modern Activation
Intellectual Property	The 1972 manuscript and raw archived papers.	Open research access at the AUC Woodruff Library and academic consolidation.
Community Education	Original classroom lectures and localized community organizing.	The Annual Walter Rodney Symposium bringing together diverse voices every March.
Global Reach	Disparate publication houses in London, Dar es Salaam, and the US.	Dedicated Foundation programs actively running in Guyana, Ghana, and Tanzania.

The Walter Rodney Foundation: Formed in 2006 by the Rodney Family.

“A non-profit organization working to advance education, health, and development by promoting human rights, social justice, and sustainable development from a Pan-African perspective.”

Created to actively share the life and works of Walter Rodney with students, scholars, and community activists around the world.

Three pillars of an active organizational mandate.

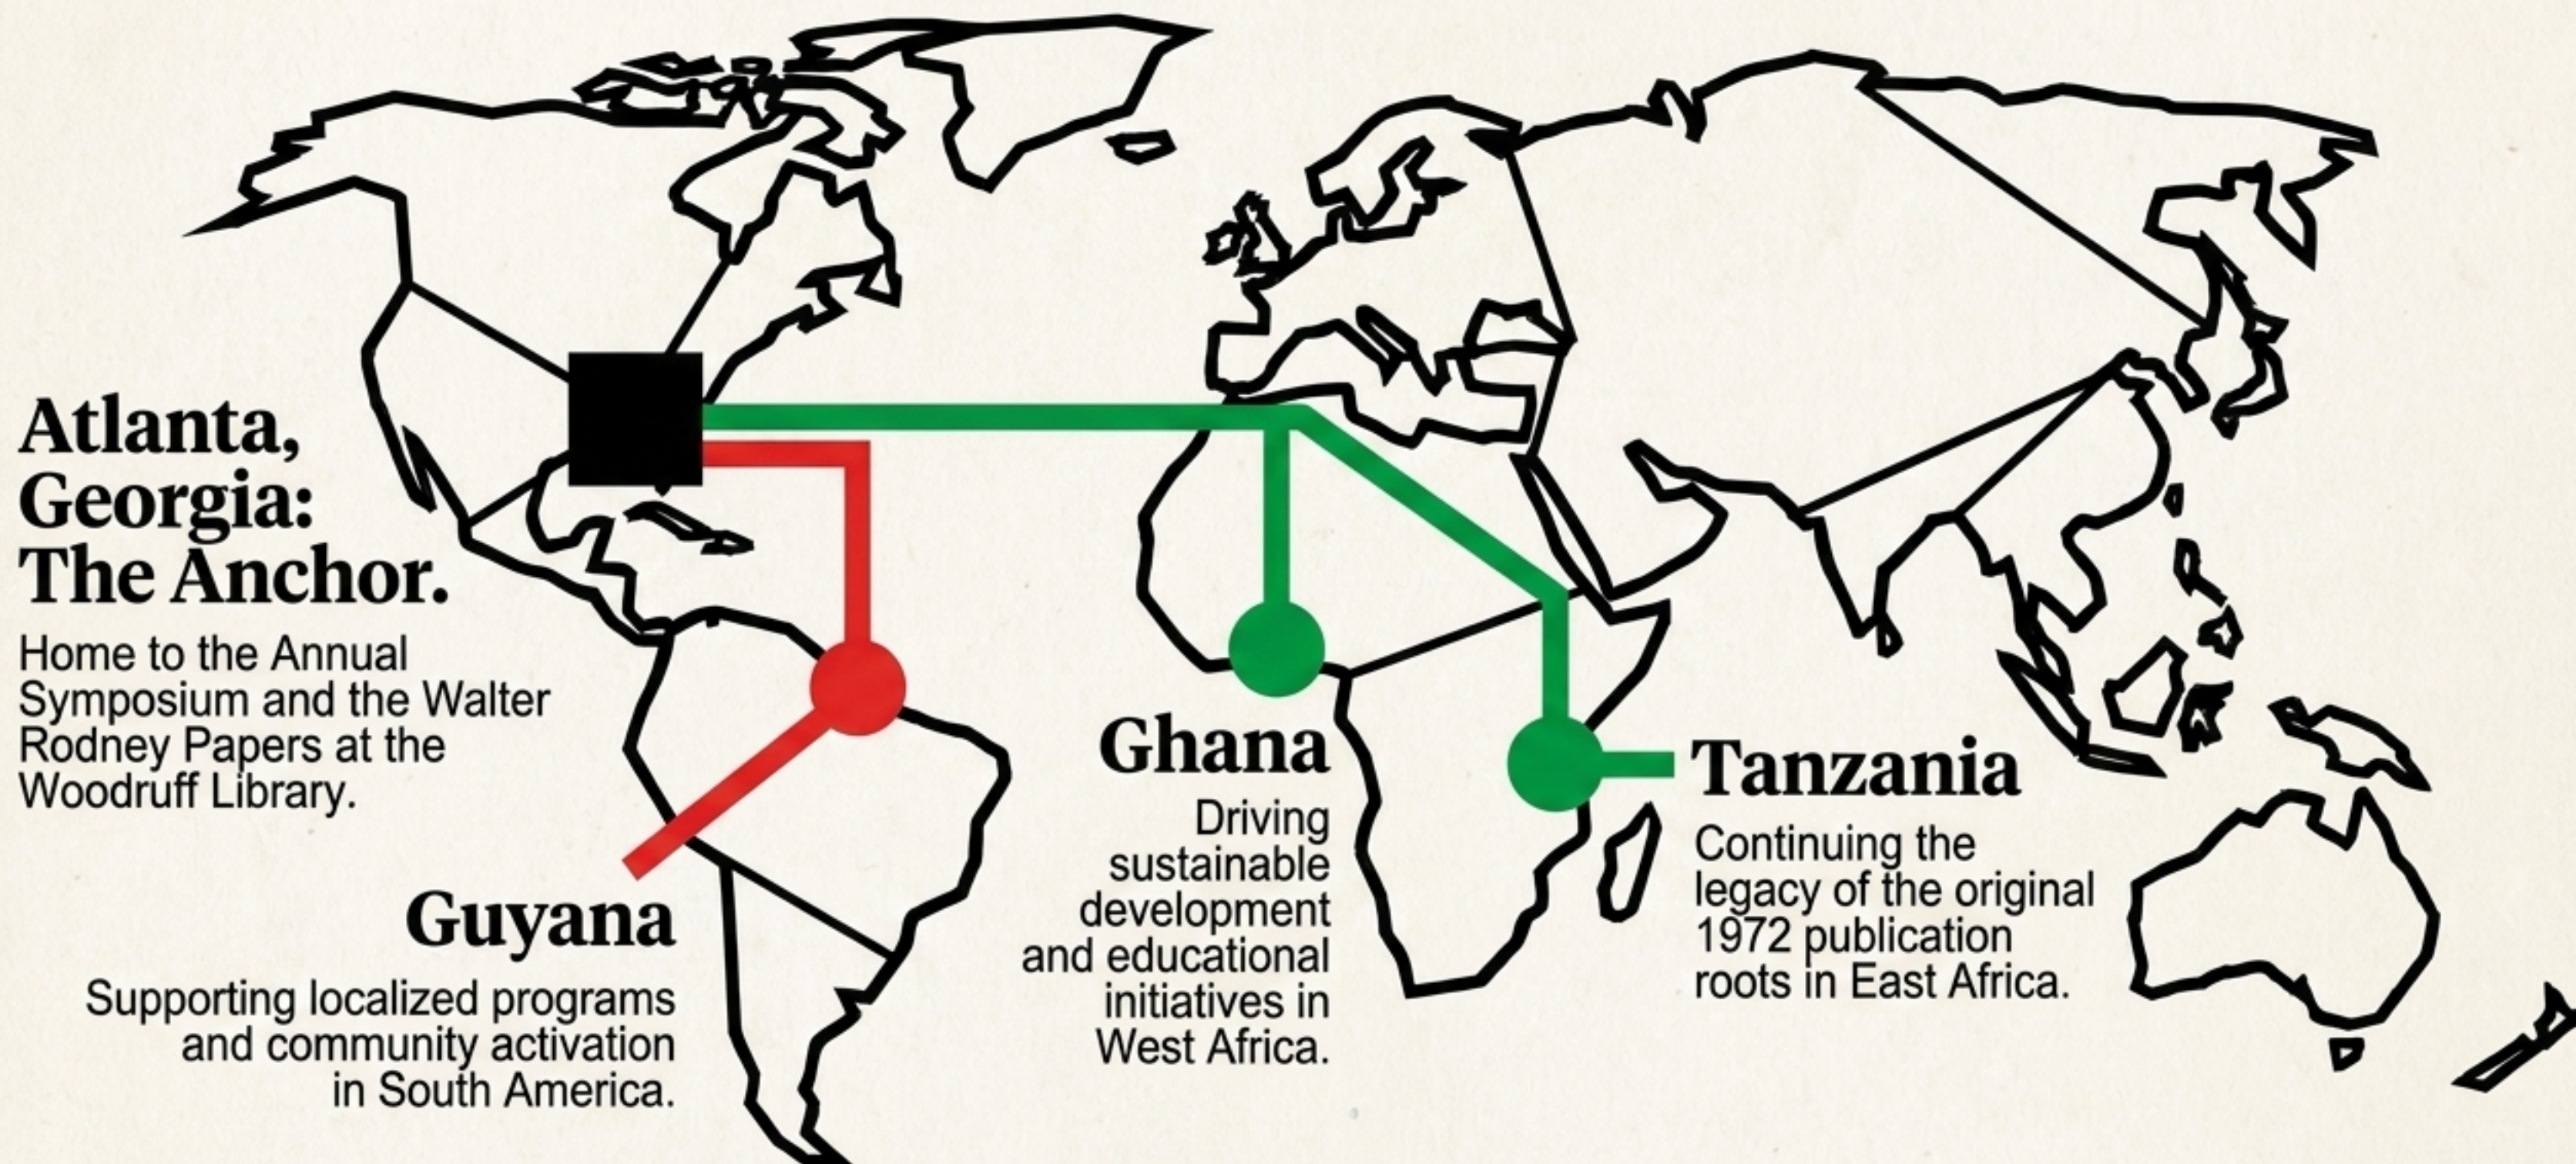

Intellectual Legacy	Social Equity	Global Development
• Consolidate Dr. Rodney's intellectual property • Promote scholarly use of the Walter Rodney Papers at the AUC • Hold seminars, conferences, and symposia in schools and universities	• Contribute directly to a more equitable society • Promote civic involvement and leadership skills • Provide critical resources for the marginalized, specifically prioritizing women and youth	• Promote and facilitate foundational literacy and education • Drive health and sustainable development initiatives globally

The Annual Symposium: Bridging the gap between academia and the streets.

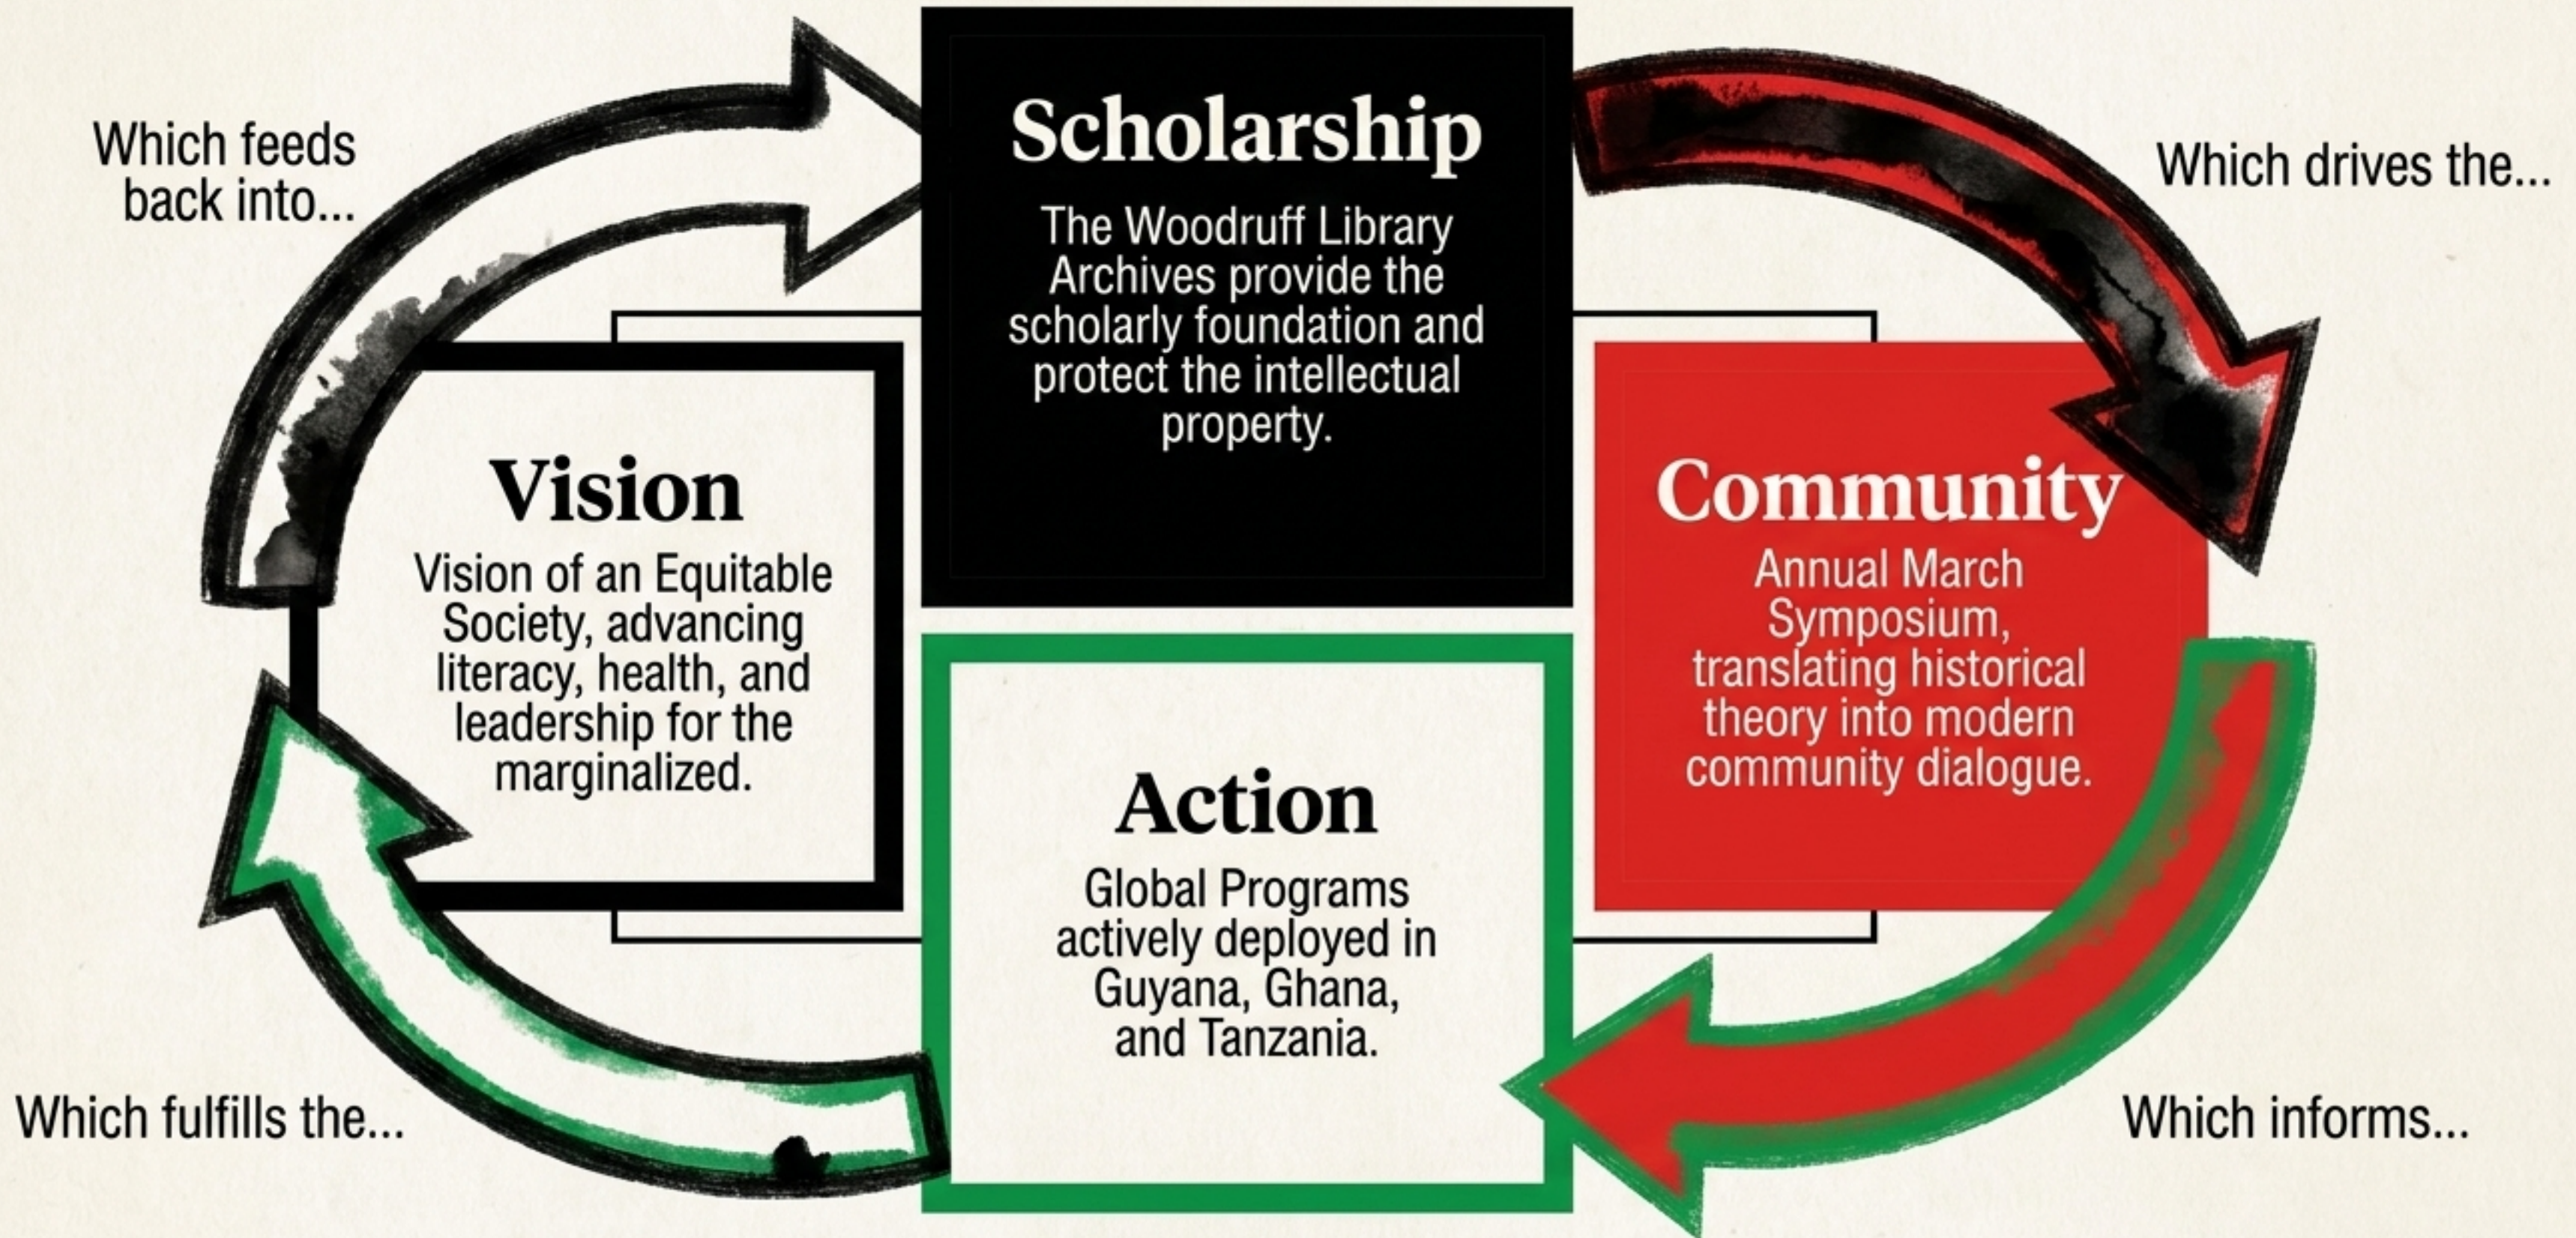

Initiated in 2003, this annual gathering in Atlanta, Georgia serves as the Foundation's flagship event for continuous, cross-generational intellectual engagement.

A localized archive driving a global Pan-African footprint.

The Walter Rodney Ecosystem.

Engage with the legacy.

The Walter Rodney Foundation, Inc. is a registered 501(c)(3) charitable organization dedicated to keeping this vital Pan-African perspective alive and actionable.

To contribute to the Foundation's global programs or explore the intellectual archive, visit: www.walterrodneyfoundation.org

AFRICA